Sponsored Session Details

Thursday 5th September

SESSION 1: SPONSORED BY GSK

THURSDAY 5 SEPTEMBER, 08:00 - 08:50 ACST, ROOM E1

Session Name: It's more than meets the eosinophil: the evolving science of IL-5 in airway type-2 inflammation

Speakers: Prof Connie Katelaris AM, Prof Dominick Shaw (UK), Prof Michaela Lucas

Overview: IL-5 is well known for its critical role in eosinophil generation, activation and survival, and therefore has been a therapeutic target in inflammatory airways disease. However, emerging evidence suggests that IL-5 plays a broader role in inflammatory disease pathophysiology via eosinophils and beyond, with potential impact on epithelial barriers, immune cell dysfunction and airway remodelling. This symposium brings together leaders in the fields of immunology and respiratory medicine to discuss this emerging evidence in the context of clinical practice and anti-IL-5 intervention in airways disease.

SESSION 2: SPONSORED BY STALLERGENES GREER

THURSDAY 5 SEPTEMBER, 08:00 - 08:50 ACST, ROOM E2

Session Name: Innovating for a life beyond allergy: Highlights from EAACI 2024 Congress

Speakers: A/Prof Rachel Peters, A/Prof Kymble Spriggs

Overview: Symposium of science highlights from EAACI 2024, with a spotlight on the Australian winners of the global "Innovation Award" at the inaugural Stallergenes Greer Foundation Science Awards for Allergy – A/Prof Peters and A/Prof Koplin. A/Prof. Peters and A/Prof Spriggs will explore the latest science informing links between food allergies and respiratory disease and informing long-term solutions for allergic diseases.

SESSION 3: SPONSORED BY FERRER PHARMA

THURSDAY 5 SEPTEMBER, 08:00 - 08:50 ACST, ROOM E3

Session Name: Molecular Immunotherapy: Innovative and Personalized Treatment for Allergic Patients

Speaker: Dr Tito Rodriguez, MD, PhD - Specialist in Allergy

Overview: Molecular immunotherapy represents a cutting-edge approach to treating allergies by targeting specific allergenic proteins responsible for symptoms. Unlike classical immunotherapy that uses whole allergenic extracts containing non-allergenic substances, molecular immunotherapy focuses on major proteins causing the allergic reactions, offering a more precise and effective treatment. The presentation highlights the evolution from classical to molecular immunotherapy, noting significant milestones such as the initiation of phase III clinical trials with native molecular allergens in 2019.

SESSION 4: SPONSORED BY CSL SEQIRUS

THURSDAY 5 SEPTEMBER, 08:00 - 08:50 ACST, HALL C

Session Name: A targeted approach to the management of ANCA-associated vasculitis
