

EDUCATION AND TRAINING

ASCIA Website

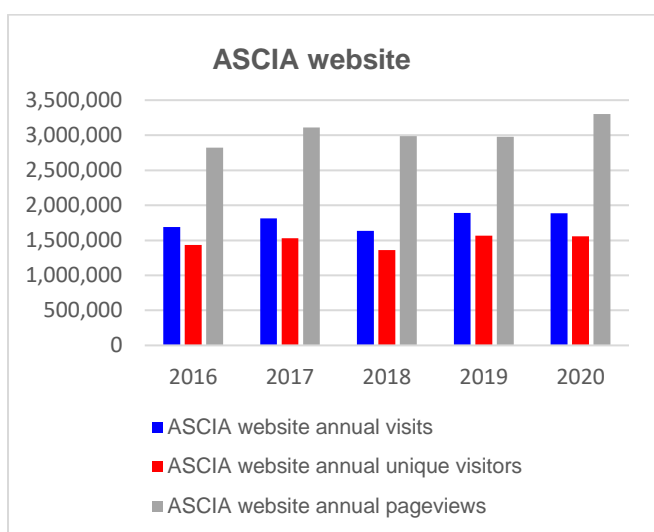

From 1 July 2019 to 30 June 2020 the ASCIA website had over 3.3 million pageviews and over 1.885 million visits.

In 2020 two new ASCIA webpages have been developed in response to COVID-19 and telehealth changes.

www.allergy.org.au/members/covid-19

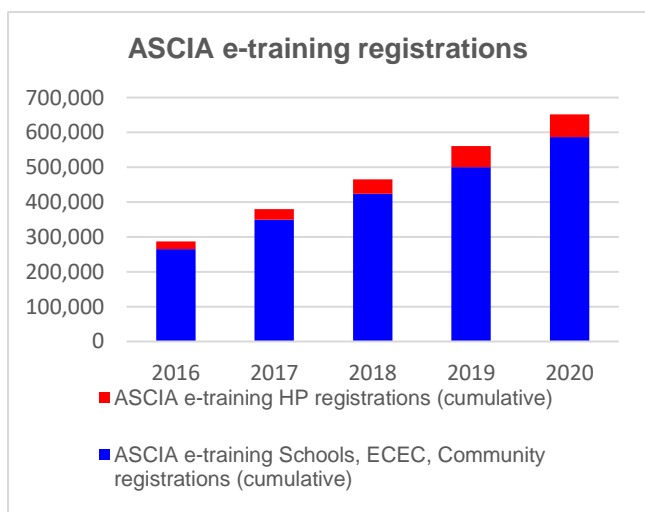

www.allergy.org.au/ascia-telehealth

All ASCIA anaphylaxis resources have been updated in 2020, including Guidelines, Action Plans and e-training courses. www.allergy.org.au/hp/anaphylaxis

ASCIA Online Training Courses

ASCIA continues to provide world leading online training, with more than 650,000 registrations since 2010.

ASCIA Conference

The next ASCIA Conference will be held in September 2021. This follows the hosting of a highly successful ASCIA 2019 Conference in Perth, Western Australia, in September 2019.

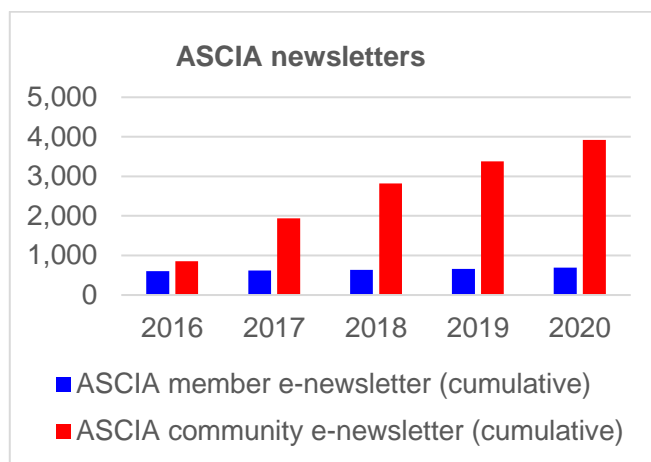

SUBMISSIONS AND COMMUNICATION

ASCIA Submissions and Reports

ASCIA lodged 15 submissions from 1 July 2019 to 30 June 2020, including a submission to the Inquiry into Allergies and Anaphylaxis. The Inquiry Report was published in June 2020. www.allergy.org.au/ascia-reports

ASCIA Newsletters

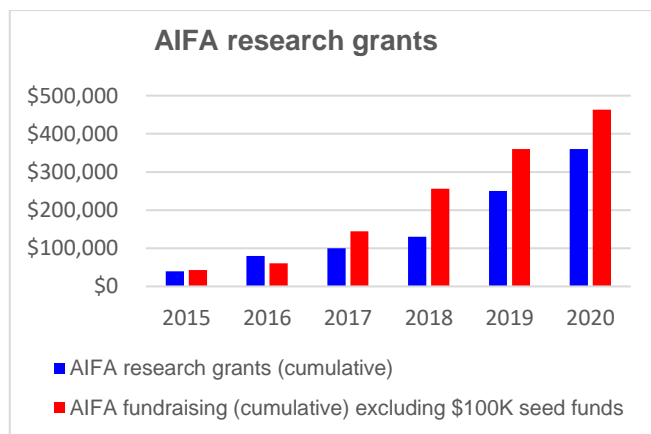

ASCIA has continued to inform members and the community each month (over 4,600 subscribers in 2020), about new and updated allergy and immunology information.

RESEARCH

AIFA Research Grants

In 2020 AIFA will award $110,000 in grants for allergy and immunology research, following $120,000 awarded in 2019.

Plans for 2021 include:

- Further expansion of ASCIA online resources, member services, AIFA research grants, collaborations and partnerships, including the National Allergy Strategy.
- ASCIA 2021 Conference in Melbourne, Australia.
- Completion of the National Immunodeficiency Strategy.
- Continued work on the ASCIA Education Project.